

AISLE TO ISLANDS

THE LEGACY WEDDING

Blueprint

Building your Marriage Foundation

Discover each other's values,
strengthen your partnership,
& transform how you plan your celebration

PLANNING@AISLE-TO-ISLANDS.COM

Hello!

I'm so excited you're here, and I have a feeling you've downloaded this because you understand something most couples miss: Your relationship didn't happen by accident—it's the beautiful culmination of generations of investment, sacrifice, and dreams.

This blueprint is my gift to you—a chance to explore not just what you want for your wedding, but what your celebration could mean for everyone who helped write your story.

Fair warning: this isn't your typical wedding planning guide. We're not talking about centerpieces and color palettes (though those are fun too!). We're diving into the good stuff—the stories that shaped you, the morals that guide you, and the legacy you want to build together.

Think of this as your relationship treasure hunt. You're going to discover family stories you've never heard, uncover values you didn't realize you shared, and maybe even surprise each other with your answers. Some exercises might make you laugh, others might make you cry (happy tears, I promise!), and all of them will help you create a celebration that feels authentically, beautifully yours.

So grab your favorite drinks, find a cozy spot, and get ready to fall even more in love—with each other and with the amazing foundation that brought you together.

Let's build something beautiful,

Jessica Lueken

P.S. There are no wrong answers here, only opportunities to understand each other and your families more deeply. Have fun with this!

Module 1: Family Heritage Discovery

Understanding Your Foundation

Before planning your future, honor your past. These exercises help uncover the stories and sacrifices that made your love story possible.

Exercise 1A: Family Foundation Recognition

Bride's Family:

- Most significant sacrifice made for your success:

- A Core value/tradition you want to carry forward:

- What you want your family to know about their impact:

Groom's Family:

- Most significant sacrifice made for your success:

- A Core value/tradition you want to carry forward:

- What you want your family to know about their impact:

Module 1: Family Heritage Discovery

Exercise 1B: Family Heritage Inventory

Family Traditions That Matter to Both of You:

- Holiday celebrations: _____
- Food traditions or recipes: _____
- Family rituals (Sunday dinners, game nights, etc.): _____

- Family sayings or mottos: _____

Family Values That Shaped Each of You:

- Work Ethic Principles: _____
- Educational Priorities: _____
- Relationship Models: _____
- Faith or Spiritual Practices: _____

Family Practices You Both Want to Continue: (could be ways your family shows love, or traditions around major milestones)

Module 1: Family Heritage Discovery

Continued...

Exercise 1C: Gratitude Reflection

What would you want your grandparents to know about how their choices affected your life? _____

What sacrifice made by your parents do you most want to honor?

What family tradition or ideal do you most want to carry forward?

Professional Insight Needed: Complex family histories often require expert guidance to weave together meaningfully. Planners who understand family-focused celebrations know how to honor multiple family foundations without overwhelming your day.

Module 2: Values Clarification Framework

Identifying Your Core Wedding Priorities

Your ideals should drive every wedding decision. These exercises help you identify what truly matters versus what feels expected.

Exercise 2A: Personal Values Assessment Bride

Rate each one from 1-5 (1=not important, 5=extremely important):

- Honoring family sacrifice: _____
- Creating lasting memories: _____
- Authentic expression: _____
- Family unity: _____
- Family Traditions: _____
- Spiritual significance: _____
- Guest comfort: _____

Your Primary 3 Values:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Exercise 2A: Personal Values Assessment Groom

Rate each one from 1-5 (1=not important, 5=extremely important):

- Honoring family sacrifice: _____
- Creating lasting memories: _____
- Authentic expression: _____
- Family unity: _____
- Family Traditions: _____
- Spiritual significance: _____
- Guest comfort: _____

Your Primary 3 Values:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Alignment Analysis:

- Perfectly aligned values: _____
- Similar but different priorities: _____
- Potentially conflicting: _____

⚠ Important: Value conflicts don't resolve themselves. Couples with differing priorities often benefit from neutral professional guidance to create harmony while honoring both perspectives.

Module 2: Values Clarification Framework

Continued...

Exercise 2C: Wedding Element Priority Matrix

For each wedding element, rate its importance to you PERSONALLY (not social expectations) & list which of your Primary Values it serves

Element	Importance (Scale 1-5)	Primary Value Served
Ceremony Location
Reception Venue
Guest List Size
Family Inclusion
Photography Style
Food Choices

Module 2: Values Clarification Framework

Continued...

Exercise 2D: Vision Statement Creation

Using your results from Exercises 2A and 2C:

Step 1: Look at your Primary 3 Values from Exercise 2A. Choose the 2 most important ones to highlight in your wedding:

1. _____
2. _____

Step 2: What are your top 3 highest-rated elements from the Element Matrix?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Step 3: Complete your vision statement using YOUR specific values and priorities:

"Our wedding will honor (Value #1 from Step 1) while celebrating (Value #2 from Step 1). The most important elements of our day will be (Top element from Step 2), (Second element from Step 2), and (Third element from Step 2) because these reflect who we truly are as a couple."

Professional Insight Needed: Having a clear vision is essential, but execution requires specialized destination expertise that successful professionals typically choose to delegate.

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Discovering How You Connect, Communicate, and Celebrate Together

Before diving into wedding logistics, understanding each other's personality styles will help you navigate planning decisions, family dynamics, and create a celebration that honors both of your natural approaches to life.

Exercise 2.5A: Temperament Discovery Bride

Complete separately, then compare results

Your Communication & Energy Style

1. When facing a big decision (like choosing a wedding venue), you typically:

- A) Get excited and want to discuss all the possibilities with everyone
- B) Research thoroughly and create detailed comparison charts
- C) Focus on getting it decided efficiently so we can move forward
- D) Consider how each option reflects your values and creates the right atmosphere

2. At family gatherings, you naturally:

- A) Move around the room connecting with everyone and sharing stories
- B) Have deeper conversations with a few people you're close to
- C) Take charge of organizing activities or helping with logistics
- D) Create a welcoming environment where everyone feels comfortable

3. When planning your wedding timeline, you prefer to:

- A) Build in lots of time for spontaneous moments and connections
- B) Have every detail planned and backup options ready
- C) Create an efficient schedule that maximizes the celebration time
- D) Allow natural flow while ensuring key moments feel meaningful

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5A: Temperament Discovery Bride Continued...

4. Your ideal wedding planning approach involves:

- A) Brainstorming creative ideas and getting input from lots of people
- B) Researching every vendor thoroughly and reading all reviews
- C) Making quick decisions and checking items off the list
- D) Taking time to consider all perspectives before making thoughtful decisions

5. When disagreements arise during planning, you tend to:

- A) Want to talk through all perspectives until everyone's happy
- B) Need time to process and think before discussing solutions
- C) Address the issue directly and find a practical solution quickly
- D) Look for compromises that honor what's most important to both of you

Scoring Your Temperament Style:

Count your responses, and remember your results, you'll need to reference them in a minute!

- Mostly A's: The Enthusiastic Celebrator (Extroverted/Relationship-focused)
- Mostly B's: The Thoughtful Planner (Introverted/Results-focused)
- Mostly C's: The Action-Oriented Leader (Extroverted/Results-focused)
- Mostly D's: The Harmonious Peacemaker (Introverted/Relationship-focused)

Your Primary Temperament: _____

Groom's Primary Temperament: _____

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Discovering How You Connect, Communicate, and Celebrate Together

Before diving into wedding logistics, understanding each other's personality styles will help you navigate planning decisions, family dynamics, and create a celebration that honors both of your natural approaches to life.

Exercise 2.5A: Temperament Discovery Groom

Complete separately, then compare results

Your Communication & Energy Style

1. When facing a big decision (like choosing a wedding venue), you typically:

- A) Get excited and want to discuss all the possibilities with everyone
- B) Research thoroughly and create detailed comparison charts
- C) Focus on getting it decided efficiently so we can move forward
- D) Consider how each option reflects your values and creates the right atmosphere

2. At family gatherings, you naturally:

- A) Move around the room connecting with everyone and sharing stories
- B) Have deeper conversations with a few people you're close to
- C) Take charge of organizing activities or helping with logistics
- D) Create a welcoming environment where everyone feels comfortable

3. When planning your wedding timeline, you prefer to:

- A) Build in lots of time for spontaneous moments and connections
- B) Have every detail planned and backup options ready
- C) Create an efficient schedule that maximizes the celebration time
- D) Allow natural flow while ensuring key moments feel meaningful

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5A: Temperament Discovery Groom Continued...

4. Your ideal wedding planning approach involves:

- A) Brainstorming creative ideas and getting input from lots of people
- B) Researching every vendor thoroughly and reading all reviews
- C) Making quick decisions and checking items off the list
- D) Taking time to consider all perspectives before making thoughtful decisions

5. When disagreements arise during planning, you tend to:

- A) Want to talk through all perspectives until everyone's happy
- B) Need time to process and think before discussing solutions
- C) Address the issue directly and find a practical solution quickly
- D) Look for compromises that honor what's most important to both of you

Scoring Your Temperament Style:

Count your responses, & remember your results, you'll need to reference them in a minute!

- Mostly A's: The Enthusiastic Celebrator (Extroverted/Relationship-focused)
- Mostly B's: The Thoughtful Planner (Introverted/Results-focused)
- Mostly C's: The Action-Oriented Leader (Extroverted/Results-focused)
- Mostly D's: The Harmonious Peacemaker (Introverted/Relationship-focused)

Your Primary Temperament: _____

Bride's Primary Temperament: _____

Temperaments List & Descriptions

The Enthusiastic Celebrator:

- Strengths: Brings enthusiasm and creative ideas to planning
- Needs: Social celebration elements, time to connect with guests
- Partnership contribution: Generates excitement, envisions guest experience, maintains motivation

The Action-Oriented Leader:

- Strengths: Decisive action, efficient planning, clear direction
- Needs: Control over key decisions, streamlined processes
- Partnership contribution: Drives decisions forward, maintains momentum, sets priorities

The Thoughtful Planner:

- Strengths: Detailed research, quality focus, thorough planning
- Needs: Time to process decisions, detailed information, backup plans
- Partnership contribution: Evaluates options thoroughly, asks important questions, ensures quality

The Harmonious Peacemaker:

- Strengths: Creates inclusive atmosphere, values meaningful connections, builds consensus
- Needs: Collaborative decisions, time to consider relationship impact, low-conflict process
- Partnership contribution: Ensures decisions feel emotionally right for both partners and creates welcoming celebration atmosphere

Bride's Primary Temperament: _____

Groom's Primary Temperament: _____

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5B: Love Languages Discovery

Based on "The 5 Love Languages" by Dr. Gary Chapman

If you haven't already discovered your love languages, I highly recommend taking the official assessment at 5LoveLanguages.com. Understanding how you each naturally give and receive love will be invaluable for wedding planning decisions and your marriage foundation.

The Five Love Languages are:

- Words of Affirmation: Verbal appreciation, compliments, encouragement
- Acts of Service: Helpful actions that ease your partner's responsibilities
- Receiving Gifts: Thoughtful tokens of love and appreciation
- Quality Time: Focused, undivided attention and presence
- Physical Touch: Physical expressions of love and affection

Bride's Primary Love Language: _____

Groom's Primary Love Language: _____

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5C: Planning Style Compatibility

Wedding Planning Approach Preferences.

Mark which way each partner prefers to make decisions.

1. Decision-making timeline:

Bride Prefers

- ☐ Quick decisions ☐ Thorough research ☐ Collaborative discussion

Groom Prefers

- ☐ Quick decisions ☐ Thorough research ☐ Collaborative discussion

2. Family input management:

Bride Wants

- ☐ A lot of family involvement ☐ Limited family input ☐ Structured family input

Groom Wants

- ☐ A lot of family involvement ☐ Limited family input ☐ Structured family input

3. Budget discussions:

Bride Prefers

- ☐ Detailed spreadsheets ☐ Big-picture numbers ☐ Allocating budget by priorities

Groom Prefers

- ☐ Detailed spreadsheets ☐ Big-picture numbers ☐ Allocating budget by priorities

Results

Looking at your answers, check any areas where you and your partner chose DIFFERENT preferences (you'll need this later):

- ☐ Decision-making timeline mismatch (e.g. one prefers quick decisions, other wants thorough research)
- ☐ Family input level differences (e.g. one wants lots of involvement, other prefers limited input)
- ☐ Budget discussion style conflicts (e.g. one wants detailed spreadsheets, other prefers big picture)

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5D: Understanding Your Dynamic

Temperament Combination Analysis

Your Partnership Strengths:

Based on your temperament combination (e.g. Thoughtful planner & Action-Oriented Leader) write 3-4 planning strengths you bring together:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____

Potential Challenge Areas:

Based on BOTH your different temperaments from 2.5A AND any mismatched preferences from Exercise 2.5C, write 2-3 potential challenge areas:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Communication Strategies for Your Temperament Combination

Enthusiastic Celebrator & Action-Oriented Leader:

Balance enthusiasm with efficiency - set aside time for creative brainstorming AND decisive action. Disagreement Resolution: Set a timer for discussion, then make a decision - prevents endless discussion vs. rushed choices

Enthusiastic Celebrator & Thoughtful Planner:

Balance spontaneity with planning - create space for both big ideas and detailed execution. Disagreement Resolution: Celebrator shares initial ideas, Planner takes time to research, then discuss findings together

Enthusiastic Celebrator & Harmonious Peacemaker:

Balance excitement with thoughtfulness - ensure celebration plans feel emotionally right for both partners while maintaining energy. Disagreement Resolution: Focus on what feels right for both of you emotionally - find option that excites Celebrator while feeling meaningful to Peacemaker

Action-Oriented Leader & Thoughtful Planner:

Balance speed with thoroughness - establish timelines that allow for research without endless delays. Disagreement Resolution: Leader sets decision deadline, Planner gets research time before that deadline, both agree on criteria upfront

Action-Oriented Leader & Harmonious Peacemaker:

Balance decisiveness with collaboration - make efficient decisions while ensuring both partners feel heard and comfortable. Disagreement Resolution: Leader explains reasoning directly, Peacemaker shares how options feel emotionally, find a solution that's both efficient and feels right to both

Thoughtful Planner & Harmonious Peacemaker:

Balance analysis with emotional intuition - combine thorough research with gut feelings about what feels right for your relationship. Disagreement Resolution: Create pros/cons list together, discuss how each option feels emotionally to both partners, take time to reach consensus that satisfies both logic and intuition

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5E: Applying what You've learned to Your Wedding

How your styles will shape your ceremony

Based on your temperaments and love languages, your wedding should include:

Enthusiastic Celebrator Partners:

- Interactive guest experiences
- Time for mingling and storytelling
- Opportunities to thank people personally
- Flexible timeline allowing for spontaneous moments

Action-Oriented Leader Partners:

- Efficient ceremony and reception flow
- Clear roles and responsibilities for wedding party
- Professional photography capturing key moments
- Streamlined guest experience without delays

Thoughtful Planner Partners:

- Detailed timeline shared with key family members
- Quality vendors who understand your vision completely
- Backup plans for weather/logistics
- Meaningful ceremony elements that reflect your values

Harmonious Peacemaker Partners:

- Inclusive ceremony honoring both families
- Comfortable seating and conversation areas
- Special recognition for family members who made sacrifices
- Traditions that bring multiple generations together

Section 2.5: Understanding Your Partnership Dynamic

Continued...

Exercise 2.5E: Continued

Based on your Love Languages, your wedding should include:

Words of Affirmation: Personal vows, thank you speeches, written programs acknowledging family

Acts of Service: Assign helpful family members specific roles, hire full-service vendors

Receiving Gifts: Meaningful wedding favors, family heirloom incorporation, gift exchanges

Quality Time: Intimate ceremony moments, private couple time, focused family interactions

Physical Touch: Hand-holding during ceremony, first dance, family hugs and embraces

Your Partnership Planning Summary:

Our Primary Temperaments: _____ & _____

Our Primary Love Languages: _____ & _____

Wedding Mission Statement:

Fill in the blanks using the “need” information from your temperament descriptions, communication and disagreement strategies from above, as well as with your names

During wedding planning, we will:

- Honor _____'s need for _____
- Honor _____'s need for _____
- Communicate about decisions by _____
- Handle disagreements by _____

💡 Professional Insight Needed: Understanding your personality dynamic is valuable, but executing a harmonious planning process often requires a planner who can bridge different temperament styles and ensure both partners feel heard.

Section 3: Decision-Making Tools

Creating Your Framework for Choices

Every wedding involves hundreds of decisions. These tools help you make choices aligned with your priorities rather than external pressure.

Exercise 3A: Your Couples Decision Guide

When facing any wedding decision, ask yourselves:

1. Does this reflect who we are as a couple? (Yes/No/Neutral)
2. Does this create meaning that matters to us? (Yes/No/Neutral)
3. Is this quality worthy of this important moment? (Yes/No/Neutral)
4. Does this honor our journey while staying true to our vision? (Yes/No/Neutral)
5. Will this decision feel right to us in 10 years? (Yes/No/Neutral)

Scoring:

- 4-5 Yes answers: Strongly aligned with your values
- 2-3 Yes answers: Consider if modifications could improve alignment
- 0-1 Yes answers: Likely not right for your celebration

Exercise 3B: Family Input Management System

Who needs to be consulted before major decisions? _____

Who should be informed but not necessarily consulted? _____

Who tends to create conflict and needs careful management? _____

Strategy for managing input:

- How will we collect family opinions (if wanted)? _____
- How will we make final decisions together? _____
- How will we communicate decisions to family? _____

Section 3: Decision-Making Tools

Exercise 3C: Vendor Evaluation Criteria

Based on your values, rank these vendor qualities (1-10):

- Understanding of your family story: ____
- Commitment to meaningful celebrations over trendy aesthetics: ____
- Genuine interest in your relationship journey: ____
- Transparent pricing and communication: ____
- Quality of work/portfolio: ____
- Stress management and problem-solving approach: ____
- Communication style that matches yours: ____
- Professional approach to planning and coordination: ____

How to use these rankings: Your top 3-4 ranked qualities should guide your vendor interviews and selection. When meeting with florists, photographers, or other vendors, pay attention to whether they naturally demonstrate your highest-ranked qualities. If a vendor excels in areas you ranked lower but doesn't meet your top priorities, they're likely not the right fit—even if their work is beautiful or their prices are competitive.

Red Flags to Avoid:

- Pushy sales tactics or pressure to decide quickly
- Vague contracts or hidden fee structures
- Dismissive attitude toward family input or family in general
- Focus on trends rather than your specific vision
- Poor communication or delayed responses

 Professional Insight Needed: Vendor evaluation requires industry knowledge to separate marketing from reality. Experienced planners can quickly identify which vendors truly serve couples like you versus those who simply target high budgets.

Section 4: Communication Preparation

Scripts and Strategies for Important Conversations

Planning a destination wedding requires clear communication with family members and vendors. These templates help you express your vision while honoring others' perspectives.

Exercise 4A: Family Vision Presentation

Conversation Starter Template: "We are excited to share our wedding vision with you because your support means so much to us. We've put a lot of thought into creating a celebration that feels authentic to who we are as a couple..."

Key Points to Cover:

- Vision First: "We envision a celebration that..."
- Values: "What matters most to us is..."
- Acknowledgment: "We're grateful for how you've shaped our journey..."
- Inclusion: "We'd love to include you by..."
- Input Request (optional): "If you have thoughts about (specific area), we'd love to hear them..."

Section 4: Communication Preparation

Continued...

Exercise 4B: Boundary-Setting Language

These diplomatic scripts help you maintain healthy boundaries while acknowledging the heart behind family input.

- For Well-Meaning but Overwhelming Input: "We really appreciate how much you care about our wedding. We want to honor everyone's perspectives while staying true to what feels right for us as a couple."
- For Budget Discussions: "We've been blessed to reach a point where we can invest in a meaningful celebration. We want to be thoughtful about how we use that blessing."
- For Guest List Tensions: "We're trying to balance creating an intimate celebration with including everyone who's been important to our journey."
- For Tradition Negotiations: "We love this tradition and want to find a way to include it that feels authentic to our celebration and us as a couple."

Exercise 4C: Vendor Interview Questions

Use these questions during initial consultations to identify if the vendor is the right fit

Questions That Reveal Values Alignment:

- "Can you tell me about a wedding where you helped a couple honor their family traditions?"
- "How do you typically handle situations where family members have different visions?"
- "How do you ensure that a destination wedding feels meaningful rather than just beautiful?"

Questions That Reveal Professional Competence:

- "What specific challenges have you encountered with destination weddings in [your preferred location]?"
- "How do you handle vendor relationships in locations where you don't live?"

⚠ Important: Asking the right questions is essential, but interpreting vendor responses requires industry knowledge and experience. Professional planners can quickly identify which vendors truly align with couples like you versus those who simply sound good in interviews.

Section 5: Planning Foundation Assessment

Understanding Your Planning Personality and Needs

Based on your temperament results from Section 2.5, let's identify what kind of planning support will work best for your busy lifestyle.

Exercise 5A: Schedule & Delegation Assessment

Your Professional Reality:

- Busiest work months: _____
- Most flexible months: _____
- Weekly hours available for wedding planning: _____ hours

Delegation Comfort Level (Rate 1-5):

- Venue selection: _____
- Vendor communication: _____
- Budget management: _____
- Family coordination: _____
- Day-of execution: _____

What You Must Handle Personally:

1. _____
2. _____

What You're Happy to Delegate:

1. _____
2. _____

Section 5: Planning Foundation Assessment

Continued...

Exercise 5B: Support Level Assessment

Based on Your Temperament Combination of:

_____ & _____

Mark your likely planning challenges:

- ☐ Getting overwhelmed by options (Enthusiastic Celebrator)
- ☐ Impatience with research phases (Action-Oriented Leader)
- ☐ Analysis paralysis (Thoughtful Planner)
- ☐ Avoiding difficult family conversations (Harmonious Peacemaker)

Mark your planning strengths:

- ☐ Creative vision and guest focus (Enthusiastic Celebrator)
- ☐ Efficient decision-making (Action-Oriented Leader)
- ☐ Quality research and planning (Thoughtful Planner)
- ☐ Family harmony and inclusion (Harmonious Peacemaker)

Professional support options:

- Minimal: Day-of coordination only
- Moderate: Partial planning consultant + destination expertise
- Comprehensive: Full-service planning with complete support

Your Preferred Level of Support: _____

Why you're drawn to this level: _____

 Professional Insight Needed: Different temperament combinations create different planning blind spots. Couples often underestimate how their personality differences will impact vendor selection, family communication, and decision-making under pressure until professional guidance becomes essential.

Congratulations

on completing your Legacy Wedding Blueprint!

You now have clarity on:

- Your family heritage and the stories you want to honor
- Your core values and how they should drive decisions
- Your partnership dynamic and communication styles
- Your decision-making framework and communication approach
- Your planning personality and support needs

The Reality of Destination Wedding Execution

Having a clear vision is essential, but executing it requires:

- Destination expertise: Understanding legal requirements, vendor landscapes, and cultural nuances
- Vendor relationships: Access to quality professionals who understand couples like you
- Logistics coordination: Managing complex timelines across time zones
- Family dynamics management: Neutral perspective for navigating multiple opinions
- Crisis management: Professional problem-solving when inevitable challenges arise

Turning Your Vision Into Reality

This workbook created your planning foundation. Now you need a professional who:

- ✓ Understands couples who prioritize substance over trends
- ✓ Specializes in creating meaningful celebrations (not just pretty parties)
- ✓ Can navigate complex family dynamics with sensitivity
- ✓ Respects your values while managing practical realities
- ✓ Provides the expertise your busy schedule demands

Ready to discuss your workbook results? Email me to explore how we can create an authentic celebration together.

Understanding your values is step one. Creating a wedding that honors them is where expertise makes all the difference.

Thank-you!

Thank you for taking the time to work through The Legacy Wedding Blueprint together. I hope you enjoyed the process and now have a deeper understanding of each other's personalities, values, and priorities.

I created this workbook because too many couples dive into planning without understanding what truly matters. The overwhelm, the conflicting opinions, the feeling that their celebration doesn't reflect who they are—it's all preventable with the right foundation.

That's where I typically come in. I specialize in meaningful destination celebrations for couples who want substance over trends. My approach honors your story, your families' investment, and your vision for a celebration that feels authentically yours.

If completing this workbook revealed that you need professional guidance to turn your vision into reality, I'd love to talk. Let's discuss how we can create a celebration worthy of your foundation.

Jessica Lueken

Founder & Creative Director

aisle-to-islands.com